In that role, he will steer and oversee the activities of the operational departments of the Le Havre regional management. As part of his new duties he will be responsible for rolling out the digital transition project to cover the whole of the Axis.

Previously, from August 2019 to July 2020, Florian Weyer held the post of “Land Transport” adviser in the office of Elisabeth Borne, then Minister for the Ecological and Inclusive Transition, and later Jean-Baptiste Djebbari, Secretary of State for Transport answering to the Minister for the Ecological and Inclusive Transition.

From July 2020 to 30 January 2022, Florian Weyer continued to discharge and broadened his assigned duties as deputy chief of staff to the Minister. He notably provided input for France’s national strategies in the areas of rail freight, digitalisation and mobility decarbonisation, in addition to the definition and implementation of the national economic recovery plan for transport infrastructure in its entirety.
