

HAROPA PORT, sea port of the world's leading tourist destination

Cruise and tourism activity is in full swing and constantly growing on the Seine axis: the ports of Le Havre, Honfleur and Rouen continue to attract maritime cruise operators with the ambition of becoming the maritime gateway to the world's leading tourist destination.

HAROPA PORT is at the top level on the English Channel / North Sea coast. Thanks to their complementary nature, the three dedicated terminals (Le Havre, Rouen, Honfleur) can accommodate all types of vessels. Whether a stop-over or starting point, their facilities are at the service of shipping lines and passengers.

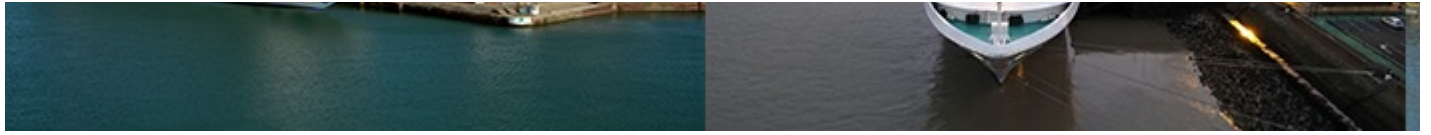

Maritime cruises:

The maritime cruises of the Seine Axis Major River & Sea Port represent on average: more than 400,000 and nearly 200 stop-over.

Le Havre's nautical capacities can accommodate up to four of the world's largest cruise ships simultaneously.

The Honfleur terminal is just a few steps from the historic city centre, one of Normandy's main tourist attractions, and at the foot of the Pont de Normandie.

These three sites constitute the exclusive maritime gateway to a territory with exceptional tourist riches, the world's leading tourist destination! This growth is the result of excellent collaboration between the ports of HAROPA PORT and the tourist offices in charge of coordinating activity in each of the ports.
