With this new flexible infrastructure,

Alkion Terminal Le Havre (ATLH) provides customers with a state-of-the-art storage solution for chemical liquid bulk.

► Storage capacity: 33,000 CBM in 24 tanks

► Standards compliance with high QHSE criteria

► Storage terminal specialized in high-value added products - additives / lubricants

► Direct connection to markets by maritime route, rail, river, road and pipeline

► High level of flexibility for operations provided by dedicated pipeline infrastructure with smaller tank sizes

► Sustainable management: energy-efficient equipment, recovery of waste into heat, site's activities ISO 14001 certified

►► With 2 terminals strategically located at the heart of Le Havre petrochemical hub, ATLH confirms its position as a major north-western European player for the storage and handling of chemical products. ATLH now offers a total storage capacity of 450,000 CBM in Le Havre.

"With this new installation, we have demonstrated that our customers can trust Alkion to accompany them in securing their future business requirements. The new Tankpit 22 guarantees their supply chain, notably their import of feedstock, export of intermediates and inland distribution to consumers. Our world-scale terminal in Le Havre is the gateway for chemicals, additives and lubricants into France. The new tankpit has consolidated our position as a strategic partner while triggering additional expansion projects."

Rutger van Thiel, Alkion CEO

"HAROPA PORT welcomes the development and the modernization of Alkion Terminals' storage facilities, Alkion being a major player of the chemical sector with many sites in Europe. This new infrastructure contributes to the attractiveness of the industrial activity in Le Havre, major European petrochemical cluster. It also meets the needs of local customers exporting worldwide."

Kris Danaradjou, Deputy General Manager Development HAROPA PORT
